

Scholarships:

Scholarship information was published in the Mask and Faces and information given to each of this year's production teams. Only one successful scholarship application was received this year. Ryan McLeod was awarded a scholarship, using the funds for an audition workshop.

I have recently contacted the University of Regina Fine Arts Department asking that they post RLT scholarship information in hopes that it will generate interest, and perhaps new members, from U of R drama students.

Sam and Nancy Goodfellow Award:

The Sammy Award was given this year at the first annual Volunteer Party to Pat Wilson for her outstanding commitment to RLT this year. Pat's contribution was extensive, including:

- Assisting with Front of House for Plays 3 and 4
- Designing and building sets for Plays 1, 4 and 5
- Serving as Regina Little Theatre Executive's Vice-President
- Stage managing the 5th show
- She is the main stage producer

Obviously, she was very deserving of this award.

Life Member:

This year Regina Little Theatre would like to present two Honorary Life Memberships.

Firstly, as we often see in volunteer organizations, parents come to support their children and end up staying to help out. In RLT's case, they start handing out programs, helping backstage and may serve on the Executive. This recipient did all of these things, and more. Faye Daborn came to support her daughters and stayed. She was on the Executive for many years, and served as President for several terms. Faye continues to make herself available to assist with front of house whenever she gets the call. Thank you Faye, for your many years of commitment and service to Regina Little Theatre.

Our second recipient has been around RLT for....well, for as long as anyone can remember. We see him at nearly every audition, and has appears in Johnny Belinda, Inherit the Wind, and Miracle on 34th Street as well as The Trial of Louis Reil for many years. This member is always willing to help any way he can. It is with the support and dedication of long time members such as this, that help to make this organization what it is today. And that is why it gives me a great deal of pleasure to present the second Honorary Life Membership to Mr. Dennis Hughes.
